Lee county four officers in the United States Army Reserve, Lieuts. Paul R. Mossholder, Norman E. Sterling, Fred N. Vaughan and T. Jason Miller, who won their commissions at the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, today, with almost 3,000 others who entered the camp three months ago as civilians, stood at attention before Col. Wm. J. Nicholson, commander of the camp, and reported for duty as officers of the United States Army.

Their induction into office was simple. Company after company marched to position before the instructors stand on the big parade ground. Upon the stand Col. Nicholson acknowledged the salute and asked each company commander whether all the commissioned from his organization were present. Then he showed them how to carry out the unprecedented ceremony required by war department orders.

"Repeat after me," he said, "I report for duty."

May Now Go Home.

Upon the company's response it was dismissed and its members are now free to go home upon the leave of absence to buy their equipment before taking up the actual work in their grades.

Illinois officers at the camp are to report a Camp Grant, Rockford, on or before Aug. 29.

"See you in France" was the call heard throughout the camp as the men prepared for their army oath, which was reduced to a simple ceremony.

American Soldiers Strongly Opposed To Being Nicknamed "Sammies"

(Associated Press)

American Training Camp, France, Monday, Aug. 13 (Delayed)—Not until the recent arrival in camp of certain American newspapers did the soldiers of the American expeditionary forces become aware that efforts were being made in certain quarters to fix upon them the name of "Sammy."

That name never is heard on this side. Within the last few days the correspondent of the Associated Press has been approached by a great many officers and men asking that something be sent home telling the people there how the standard-bearers of the

MARRIAGE NOT REAL GROUNDS FOR EXEMPTION

PROVOST MARSHAL GENERAL CROWDER MAKES AN IMPORTANT RULING.

DEFINES SOLE DEPENDENCY

If Relatives of Either Are Able To Support Wife The Husband Must Serve.

That the mere fact that a man is married will not exempt him from service in the national army, is demonstrated by the following official ruling of Provost Marshal General E. H. Crowder:

Under Presidential Regulations, the term "dependent for support" has given rise to several further questions of principle affecting large numbers of persons.

The general basis for ruling upon such questions should be the spirit and purpose of the act in providing for such discharge wherever the terms of the act and of the regular provisions are not in themselves conclusive. The act authorizes the President to discharge wherever the parties drafted are "in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable."

A clear case of dependency ordinarily renders discharge advisable, because, since the drafted person loses his civil income and thus loses his means of support, the wife is left without support, and this lack of support is the effect which the act aims to avoid. But wherever such effect does not in fact follow, and the wife is not left without reasonably adequate support, but will receive support from other sources, there is no real dependency rendering discharge advisable.

The following classes of cases are within this ruling:

A. Wife and Children.

1. Where the parents or other relatives of the wife or the husband are able, ready, and willing to provide adequate support for her (and children, if any) during the absence of the husband.

2. Where the wife owns land which has produced income by the husband's labor, but which could with reasonable certainty be rented during his absence, to other persons so as to produce an adequate support.

3. Where there exists some arrangement by which the salary or wage of the husband is continued, in whole or in part, by third persons, being employers or insurers or others, such portion of the salary or wage, either alone or with an allotment of his soldier's pay or with other definite income, will furnish a reasonably adequate support.

B. Other Dependents.

1. Where in one of the foregoing ways a reasonably adequate support is provided for a widowed mother, infirm parents, or orphan child under 16 years, of a son, brother or father.

PASSED EXAMINATION

(Special to Telegraph)
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 15—Joseph J. Curran, 1231 Lincoln Way, Dixon, passed the state Civil Service examination for masons.

ON VACATION.

American army really resent what they consider an imprudent, undignified and irritating name.

It can also be stated that the resentment does not rest alone with the officers and men of the army, but it extends to all Americans resident in Paris and in other parts of France, many having written in to say that they consider "Sammy" most unsuitable for men who have come over to France seriously and earnestly to fight for the liberties of the peoples of the world.

Hit "Sammy" Hard.

"Please hit the 'Sammy' propaganda as hard as you can," said an officer of distinguished rank to the correspondent today. "The men and officers would be proud to have an appropriate nickname, but there is not one among us who thinks 'Sammy' is in any way suitable and it certainly is not desired.

"The name does not in any way suit a fighting man. We recognize, of course, that it is an effort to play up on the name of Uncle Sam, but who would think of calling Uncle Sam, Uncle Sammy? It is ridiculous.

"We had a discussion coming over an the transports as to possible nick names and 'Sammy' was one suggested, but it met with no favor whatever. None of the names suggested seemed just right, but there was some consensus of opinion regarding the proposal that the nickname be 'Johnny Yanks,' which of course is a combination of 'Johnny Rebs' and 'Yanks' from the civil war days.

"No nickname can be enforced upon the fighting man. To stick it must be spontaneous and unanimously recognized as just the thing. Such a name may yet come to us. It is possible that the French themselves will solve the problem and give us a name that will not only suit us but will be distinctly reminiscent of our stay in France.

Can Do Without Nickname.

"Perhaps something we shall do will give us our proper name. Until that time we are willing to be known as just plain American soldiers, willing and anxious to do our duty. We have gotten along a great many years without a national nickname and perhaps we can stand it a little while longer."

West Pointers particularly smile at "Sammy" for "Sammy" has always been a nickname at the military academy for molasses. "Please pass the Sammy" is an old table phrase.

Men of the rank and file have a picturesque way of expressing themselves generally on every subject but the appellation "Sammy" called forth some new masterpieces of rhetoric not wholly suited for cable transmission.

The best that can be said of "Sammy" is that a few soldiers say if the folks at home want to call them such names "they don't care." They say they will "carry on in spite of any other obstacle" which may be placed in their way.

See Enemy Airship.

A lone German airplane flying so high as to be barely discernible in the cloud-flecked sky and evidently engaged in long distance reconnaissance work, passed over part of the American training area.

The enemy aircraft alarm was at once sounded and all movement of troops was halted until the hostile plane was out of sight.

The weather continues warm and showery, but does not interfere with training. Major General Sibert expects soon to review the troops of his command.

Kermit Roosevelt, now a captain in the Canadian army, was a visitor at the training camp of the American contingent today. Young Roosevelt is en route to Mesopotamia. He saw the soldiers go through the various war practice stunts.

Beautiful Bust and Shoulders are possible if you will wear a scientifically constructed Bien Jolie Brassiere.

The dragging weight of an unconfined bust so stretches the supporting muscles that the contour of the figure is spoiled. put the bust back where it belongs, prevent the full bust from having the appearance of flabbiness, eliminate the danger of dragging muscles and confine the flesh of the shoulder giving a graceful line to the entire upper body.

They are the daintiest and most serviceable garments imaginable—come in all materials and styles: Croch. Back, Hook, Front, Surplice, Bandeau, etc. Boned with "Wolohn," the rustless boning—permitting washing without removal.

Have your dealers show you Bien Jolie Brassieres, if not stocked, we will gladly send him, prepaid, samples to show you.

Birthday Surprise
Miss Ruth Kelchner was very pleasantly surprised Sunday by a group of friends who came to celebrate with her, her fourteenth birthday. A birthday luncheon of ice cream and cake, a birthday cake with its candles forming a decorative feature, was served in the dining room.

The guests were the Misses May and Leona Fisher, Frances Boren, Hazel Hobbs, Emma Bremer, Helen Mitchell, and Edith Richardson and Masters Clarence Carlson, Leo and Richard Hoff, and John Mitchell of Dixon; the Misses Verna and Violet Kuehna, Master Joseph Kuehna, and Mr. and Mrs. George Heinrich and Earl Smith of Sibley, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Henrich of Mendota.

Needed at Red Cross Shop
The women of Dixon seem hardly awake—that is, all of them—to the need of working at the Red Cross shop. To be sure a certain number of women work each day, but aren't they in the main the same women who started the work months ago? The Red Cross has the membership dollars of many of you, but it needs your service. This is navy week when the Dixon shop must aid in preparing bandages to be carried aboard the battleships and destroyers. They must be supplied within ten days. Make the Red Cross shop a rallying point for all the women of Dixon. Other towns, smaller than Dixon have their forty and fifty workers at their shops every day. Let's have a little community pride.

Sunday Guests
Mr. and Mrs. Merle McCartney and family of Polo and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Emmert and daughter Jean Caroe of Nachusa were Sunday guests at the home of the ladies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Graehling.

Miss Orpha Moore of Ashton was also a guest at the Graehling home on Sunday and Monday.

Visited Dixon
Dr. B. J. Palmer and wife, Dr. Mabel Palmer, son David Palmer, F. W. Elliott and wife, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bunch, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Vedder, all of the Palmer School of Chiropractic, of Davenport, Iowa, stopped in Dixon over Sunday on their return from a tour through Illinois. Drs. H. B. and H. E. Saxmann took the party around Dixon showing them some of the city's beauty spots.

James Powell Marries

Dixon friends will be interested in the following announcement:
"Mrs. James T. Conover announces the marriage of her daughter Amanda to James Clinton Powell, on Sunday, August 12, 1917, Sacramento, California."

Mr. Powell's mother was Miss Mary Hawley, a daughter of James A. Hawley, for many years connected with the Dixon National Bank and a large shareholder in the Dixon Water Company. They lived for a time on Crawford avenue just south of the Collins Dysart residence and later built the house now occupied by John Forrest. George Hawley of this city is an uncle of the young man. Mr. Powell's mother was married from the home on Crawford avenue.

New Collars

"There is just as much material in the new coat collar of washable fabric—it is the shape that is different. Put away all your wide sailor collars, unless they are of fine, delicate fabric—these you may wear with indoor costumes—but the smart out-door collar now, the one you wear with your tailored suit for fall, must be very long at the front and rather narrow in width all around. White collars in this shape give the modish touch, and the longer the points at the front, the smarter the effect. Such collars do not taper to a V from shoulder line to bust, but outline the front of the coat with straight edges, and at the place joining the collar is cut straight across, making a square edge, or is pointed downwards in the well known Puritan effect."

Camp at Assembly Park

Mr. and Mrs. John Royer and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graehling, of Sterling, have secured a comfortably furnished cottage at Assembly park in Dixon where they will spend the next two weeks. MOTHER OF NINE CHILDREN

Able to do Housework by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"After the birth of my ninth baby I was in a weak, run down condition, had pains in my left side, so I would faint often. My doctor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and gained in strength so I can now do all my own house work and I hope you may publish my experience with your Compound for the benefit of other mothers."—MADAME EUGENE BEDARD 558 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

Delightful Dinner Party

The dinner party of the City Alt Club members and their husbands, held at the Sheffield hotel, Grand Detour, Tuesday evening, was a very delightful affair. The dinner was served on the screened porch which has recently been converted into an open-air dining room and a dinner, which would be impossible to get at almost any other place during these war times—chicken, and everything good—was served. Upon the return of the company to Dixon they were most pleasantly entertained at the Robert Teachout residence by Mrs. Louis Schumm and Mrs. Earl Kennedy at an evening of music and games. Refreshments were served during the evening.

SOME SENSIBLE ADVICE

When the civil war broke out the women of the north and south immediately entered upon a campaign of definite assistance to the men in the field which never lagged.

In addition to knitting and sewing for the soldiers they joined in watching their own household affairs so that not a minute or a dollar should be wasted.

Upon the shoulders of the daughters and granddaughters of these women has fallen the mantle of service in the great war now being waged against Germany.

It is not enough that women shall work for the Red Cross, the Navy League and all other relief agencies.

They must watch their little economies in their own homes.

Waste is an enemy to be feared and to be watched no less than German submarines.

Mrs. H. A. McKeene, secretary of the department of household science of the Illinois Farmers' Institute, voices an important warning when she calls attention to the need for great care in the use of wool yarn in the homes.

As Mrs. McKeene says, there is likely to be a great scarcity of wool and if the boys in the trenches and cantonments are to be properly protected against cold the women at home must be on the lookout.

"Buy wisely, wash carefully, mend and darn intelligently," is the advice of this authority on home life.

Mrs. McKeene advises watching for moths in woolen goods, the use of unbleached muslin to save textile mills and instead of putting elaborate stitches on bed linen to put the time on Red Cross and Navy League work.

DISCARDED ELDERLY MEN.

The head of a large printing office in New York recently wanted three boys to serve as office workers and messengers. He advertised and got no replies. It occurred to him to try for elderly men out of work. He advertised with that in view, and had 50 replies.

Most of these men wrote good letters and seemed intelligent. He put three of them to work and found them very satisfactory. It was a suggestion that there is a large class of elderly men who have been discarded from the shops and stores, yet who are capable of doing very good work.

Industry is swift today and a great many men drop out at a premature age. At 60 a man should still be able to do a lot of work but many are unable to keep up with the younger fellows. If a man is sick and out a week he will find someone in his place when he comes back. The firm may not have turned him off, but they are not sorry for an excuse to put in a younger man.

Men of this age are serious minded; they work with fidelity and often their experience enables them to offer useful suggestions. A great many of them are losing their regular employment, but they take up odd jobs. Men of such intelligence are often seen doing small jobs much below their natural abilities.

Many elderly men are spending this summer in garden and farm work. As long as the war lasts they can find work on the land. Very likely they would be better off there permanently than taking precarious positions in factories and stores. Here are many specialties in food raising they could learn. If good crops this year reduce the price of feeds, poultry raising will offer a wide field for such workers.

A Monopoly on Battery Quality

Three exclusive Vesta improvements give the Vesta Storage Battery a monopoly on battery superiority and make it unquestionably the most wonderful battery in the world.

VESTA

The Indestructible Isolator positively locks the plates apart and prevents short-circuits. Entirely immune to the attacks of battery acids.

VESTA

Impregnated Wooden Mats

The Impregnated Wooden Mats absorb battery acids as freely as ordinary mats and form a perfect path for the current yet prevent "freezing" and its disastrous consequences.

CAMP GRANT WILL BE FIRST COMPLETED

to make some 15 miles of camp highway and the entire cantonment railroad system is nearly completed. A handsome plaza to head the mile-long parade grounds is planned under the direction of E. H. Bennett, supervising architect of Chicago, whose army city plan has been carried out here in detail. A large statue of General Grant will be the central figure in the plaza.

Life in Camp Grant during the national training period is already being portrayed in detail by the 1200 troops in barracks. Following an order from Major Abel Davis, commanding officer of the post, two entire battalion buildings have been opened to the infantrymen on guard duty and the buildings are proving their worth in comfort and general utility. In three hours time the troops took entire possession of the barracks. The cots were placed in the airy second floor dormitories where an entire company can sleep, field ranges were set up in the kitchens, company offices opened off the main corridors and mess halls put in order. Officers have taken possession of the single story headquarters buildings included in each unit and Major Davis and his staff occupied the regimental headquarters building commanding a view of battalion quarters. Electric lights, shower baths, interior latrines and other living comforts are included in both the company barracks and officers' quarters.

3000 Guards On Duty.

Guard forces protecting the government reserve in 12 hour reliefs now number 3000 men and precautions against fire and enemy mischief have been redoubled. Sheriff Roy Ginders has detailed three mounted deputies equipped with carbine, revolver and field uniform, to patrol the camp day and night. A proof of the loyalty in the construction army is found in the fact that only five workmen have been arrested for failure to report for draft examination. Temporary exemption has been awarded cantonment workmen by the war department until the close of the building period.

Regular training has been established for the First Illinois infantry squad drill practices hikes and company work is included in the program in addition to periods of guard duty performed by every man 12 hours in every three days.

Miss Julia Feely, of Chicago, who has been in Dixon during the illness and death of her brother, the late Bernard Feely, returned to the city this afternoon.

POPE SPECIFIES TERMS OF PEACE

London, Aug. 15.—It was stated here on high authority that the allies probably would not reply to the peace suggestions from the Vatican. Officials regard the character of the note as not requiring a direct answer. The suggested terms are considered here as being overfavorable to Germany and some fear was expressed as to their possible effect on American Catholics.

Restore All Territory.

Rome, Aug. 15.—Specific and concrete conditions which his holiness Pope Benedict believes may form the basis of world peace, have been forwarded to the rulers of all nations. The pope, in outlining these conditions, makes a new and general appeal for the restoration of peace.

The appeal is addressed to all neutrals, as well as the belligerents. It is somewhat general in form but of such nature as to form the ground work for more detailed discussion.

The desire of his holiness, in presenting the general conditions is to furnish some common ground for discussion through a preliminary understanding.

The appeal of the pope, together with the conditions he has presented for consideration of the world, are published in the Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican.

To Restore Conquered States.
Broadly, the conditions proposed by the pope include the restoration of all conquered independent states and an amicable adjustment of control of all territory in dispute, or likely to afford cause for future wars.

Restoration of all conquered independent states would include Belgium, Roumania and Serbia. Adjustment of control of territory in dispute, or offering possibilities for cause of wars in the future would include Alsace, Lorraine and Poland and the territory, including Trieste and Trent, which has long been the cause of hostile feeling between Austria and Italy. Discussion of the disposition of such territories would, if necessary, cover a great deal of ground, and undoubtedly would grow to the point of discussion of disposition of conquered colonial possessions.

German Flavor Charged.

London, Aug. 15.—"These so-called peace terms have a distinct German flavor." This reply was given in an authoritative quarter in London in reply to a question in regard to the Vatican proposals.

The opinion was expressed that the inspiration is from Austria and was in the nature of a trial balloon, as a prelude to more definite propositions from the Central Powers to the allies.

The informant continued: "It has long been known to statesmen of the allied powers that the central powers are eager to conclude peace on terms of restoration of the status quo. Therefore, there is no need of any protracted consideration before saying what the attitude of the allies will be. A status quo peace would be distinctly a German peace, and is the very thing which President Wilson and other American statesmen have been long emphasizing as impossible and unthinkable. All the sacrifices of this terrible war will have been vain if we do not conclude a peace which will insure the world against a repetition."

The outline of the Vatican's peace proposals received here demands the restoration of all German colonies to Germany.

Summed up the proposals are for a restoration of the status quo ante-bellum, with all questions as to the readjustment of frontier to be left to undefined "subsequent negotiations."

Included Some of Wilson's Terms.
Washington, Aug. 15.—An unofficial outline of Pope Benedict's peace proposals received here disclose that the pontiff includes some of the principles of world peace for which President Wilson has declared.

Within the entente diplomatic circle the opinion was freely and promptly expressed that the peace proposal was inspired by Germany and was an attempt to split the allies in a conflicting discussion of their war aims.
